To whom it may concern

Lee Schatz and his company WATCHU became known to us through a recommendation from within the security industry.

Although the Manukau Central Business Association has not had a long association with Lee and his company we have found his approach and knowledge of his product area to be very sound and professional.

Having identified issues in our Town Centre we were looking for a solution based approach which Lee offered - but not before he had personally done his own research and spoken with the stakeholders, businesses and police to confirm his own interpretation of the needs and existing resources available before giving his recommendation.

The delivery and continuous communication throughout the process has helped us to build confidence in the appointment and have no hesitation in recommending Lee and WATCHU to help address issues of security and surveillance.

Yours faithfully

Stewart Heine
Centre Manager
